

ID24 scholarship - Women in Tech

We are aiming to promote women in the tech industry and help you who enjoy web development tools with a push in the right direction

Since 2009 when ID24 started our cloud based solution we have had the opportunity to work with many international companies as clients. Tommy Hilfiger, Calvin Klein, GANT, Clarion hotels, Quality hotels and Comfort hotels as well as a pharmacy chain like Apotek Hjärtat.

If you enjoy web development tools and look forward to a career as a CTO or just wish to deepen your knowledge in the field don't hesitate to apply for this scholarship.

Example of things this scholarship can cover:

- An interesting conference to meet other CTO:s
- A hackathon to learn more web development

We will be happy to cover costs for you up to 30 000 sek. Apply before Valborg on April 30 and we will be inviting you for short 10 min interviews where you can come and present yourself, your idea and what you are pitching for. Can be a nice summer experience for you!

If you are interested in applying for this scholarship, please send a personal letter summarising in a few sentences about yourself and your ideas together with your CV and grades from completed courses as attachment to: hr@id24.com

Feel discriminated as a male or a non web developer person? Don't worry. You can always send us applications if you need a dynamic place to do a thesis internship and get to work with our team too. We do plenty of projects in mobile development (mainly Swift), neural networks and predictability as well as big data projects for our retail clients.